YOUNG'S LANDSCAPE MANAGEMENT Launches Its Latest Green Initiative Installing a Solar Electricity Generating System to Fully Power Office and Nursery Operations

September 20, 2011 – Moorestown/Lumberton, NJ – Young's Landscape Management, Inc. (Young's), a full service residential and commercial landscaping company headquartered in Southern New Jersey, announces its latest green initiative, investing in a solar electricity generating system that will provide enough power for the firm's office and nursery facility. The yearlong project, which went live in July 2011, included the permitting, design and installation of two systems. Together, the systems generate 61 kW of solar power, providing the energy needed to operate seven buildings, including greenhouses, irrigation wells and lighting.

In selecting the system, Young's worked closely with Brite Idea Energy. With one rooftop of solar panels, the system is sized to provide 100% maximum available power generation allowed by the State of New Jersey based upon the company's 2009 usage. According to Christopher J. Brown with Brite Idea Energy, "Young's 61 kW solar power generation system will generate 70 Solar Renewable Energy Credits annually. It will prevent 109,800 lbs. of coal from being mined and 219,600 lbs. of CO<sub>2</sub> from entering the atmosphere. The system will also protect 76,860 gallons of clean water from contamination and avoid the release of NO and SO<sub>2</sub> into the environment."

"This is one of many ways we are striving to be better stewards of our planet and it's an investment that will offer greater cost savings in the long run," says Joe Ehrenreich, certified landscape professional and general manager of Young's Landscape Management. "It follows the introduction of our Organic Lawn Care Program earlier this year and our internal recycling program supported by Young's entire team."
